

Having a wander in the garden of success: The simplest paths to success

Are you living the life you have once imagined? Or are you just lost in the daily life hustle and bustle? Or are you living a life which has been designed for you by the others? Or do you have what you have dreamed of once? Is the life once you have dreamed of not more than a sweet memory now? You may be someone who had woken up in a pain at the age of something of which you find to be too old or having a feeling that you have used up all your life time and havent experienced the world or havent done anything you wanted to do. This age may be the age of twenty, or thirty, or forty, or eighty. Lets be honest; we all have this fear. None of us wants to get to a point in our life time where we would think that it is now too late as the time had just passed by and all we had achieved throughout the life was being someone who had a feeling of no use and unimportance. Whereas, we had once imagined ourselves to be in a different place, hadnt we? And we found ourselves to be nowhere nearer it. We all once wanted to succeed but the only thing we have achieved may be a big frustration or failure. Yes, we all wanted to succeed. We all had dreams, and ambitions for realisation of these dreams. Do you, yourself, think that you are now too old to follow your dreams? Or do you, yourself, think that you are incapable of fulfilling your dreams due to several reasons including physical obstacles. Do you think there are other obstacles which are always in your way preventing you from what you would like to do? Do you think you ought to live a life that the others have designed for you and are you tired of living this life? Hence do you feel lost, hopeless or exhausted? If you think any of these then you are doing nothing than concocting an excuse. And dont worry because there is someone who would save you from all these; a saviour. A saviour which is you, YOURSELF! This book has a collection of short inspirational and motivational stories together with quotes about the ways to success. Each of these stories and quotes will give you a direction which you can head off to. The teaching of each of the known and unknown writers, poets, philosophers, wise men, sages, thinkers in each of the stories will lit up your path and lead you to success. The paths to success are hidden in these stories.

When reading each of them, you dont need to strive to find where these paths are. It will be sometimes a child, sometimes a disabled person, sometimes a street seller, or famous person, who will help you to expose it and then make you recognise that it is the way to success. They will be the ones showing you the way to success.

Whenever you feel lost, frustrated, exhausted and hopeless, just open this book as if you are opening a gate to a garden called the Garden of Success which has lots of different type of trees where each one is someone elses success tree. Take a free wander in the garden. Walk off to any tree and stand by it. And pick off a fruit from it and have it; reading each of these stories can be like as if you are standing by a tree, picking off a fruit from it and having it. The fruits youll have will give you the nutrition the mind-set you need to succeed. You will find what you need from each of these stories. Yes, you can do it! You should never give up; never give up believing in yourself. Whenever you doubt yourself, face difficulties or get obstacles in the way, including your own obstacles in your belief, remember the inspirational stories in this book.

Remember how they transform failures to successes. Believe in yourself! Because every one of you can make a great difference if you only choose to believe in yourself and never give up. You should help to spread these inspirational stories to all people you know around you so that both you and them, individually and collectively, will fully live your great potential. Have an enjoyable reading!
